

5.9.45 Farm at 795 Pattersonville Road, Florida

This is a circa 1840 farm property flanking both sides of Pattersonville Road. On the north side of the road is a circa 1840, two-story frame vernacular residence with side gable roof and full-width front porch, two circa 1940 timber-frame sheds, a modern pole barn, a large ell-shaped modern farm accessory building and a modern multi-bay garage. Agricultural fields and a steel granary are located on the south side of the road. The house is significantly altered by a small front addition, and a rear ell that connects to a modern residential structure. The farm does not convey any strong associations with historic agricultural trends due to alterations of buildings.

5.9.46 Buildings on Pattersonville Road, Florida (05704.000164, 05704.000165)

These buildings on Pattersonville Road lack architectural distinction and historical merit. They date from the 1980s. They are metal shell buildings and are not recommended NRHP eligible under any criterion. Building 6 (05704.000164) is a circa 1980 hay shed. Building 7 (05704.000165) is a circa 1980 metal shell building overgrown with vegetation. These buildings lack architectural distinction and historic significance.

5.9.47 Christopher Persons Farm, 152 Persons Road, Florida (05704.000157, 05704.000163)

The Christopher Persons Farm consists of two resources. Building (05704.000157) is a circa 1900 farm complex includes a front-gable house with gabled addition on the façade; five metal and timber frame barns and equipment sheds, all altered and in various stages of deterioration; four steel granaries; a modern residential structure; and a modern metal barn. The house is clad with a variety of synthetic and replacement siding materials and has replacement windows. Building (05704.000163) is a circa 1900 timber-frame barn with gable roof and rear addition made of sheet metal. These buildings lack architectural distinction and historical merit. They are not recommended NRHP eligible under any criterion.

5.9.48 Phillips Dairy Farm, 123 Phillips Drive, Florida (05704.000155)

This farm includes a circa 1850 Greek Revival style house altered by a large, flat-roof front addition, enclosed front porch, and modern windows; three frame vernacular agricultural structures; a concrete silo; a new modular house; two frame garages; and new farm accessory structures. These buildings lack architectural distinction and historical merit. They are not recommended NRHP eligible under any criterion.

5.9.49 Valentino's Restaurant, 119 Riverview Drive, Amsterdam

This is a circa 1890 residential property currently used as a restaurant. The 2½-story Queen Anne house with onion dome tower is completely obscured by modern one-story additions that surround it on all sides. Alterations have irrevocably compromised the building's historic integrity. The building fails to convey any linkage to central narratives in local, regional, or national history.

5.9.50 House at 127 Riverview Drive, Amsterdam

This is a circa 1935 frame minimal traditional residence with side gable roof, two gabled dormers, and altered gabled entry porch. The house has been altered by the addition of a large eastern extension, new siding, and new windows. It lacks architectural distinction and historical merit. They are not recommended NRHP eligible under any criterion.

5.9.51 House at 133 Riverview Drive, Amsterdam

This property includes a circa 1985 modular home and two large circa 1880 timber-frame barns, undistinguished in style and in form. It lacks architectural distinction and historical merit. They are not recommended NRHP eligible under any criterion.

5.9.52 House at 137 Riverview Drive, Amsterdam

This is a circa 1880 two-story frame Colonial Revival residence with side gable roof, four-bay-wide façade, shingle siding, and exterior brick chimney. The dwelling has been altered by a large, 1½-story gabled side addition with second entrance, large modern rear addition over a carport, and replacement vinyl windows. It lacks architectural distinction and historical merit. It is not recommended NRHP eligible under any criterion.

5.9.53 House at 141 Riverview Drive, Amsterdam

under any criterion.

This is a circa 1920, 1½-story frame vernacular residence with front gable roof, and altered, enclosed full-width gabled front porch. Windows are 1/1 sashes, with smaller fixed windows on the half story. A two-bay frame garage is located to the north of the house. It lacks architectural distinction and historical merit. It is not recommended NRHP eligible

5.9.54 House at 143 Riverview Drive, Amsterdam

This is a circa 1920, 1½-story frame vernacular residence with front gable roof and altered porch, vinyl 1/1 sash windows, and vinyl siding. detached garage.

This circa 1880 frame vernacular house was likely associated with the dairy farm on the north side of Swart Hill Road, now a separate parcel at 269 Swart Hill Road. The two-story frame house with gable-front and wing plan is clad with vinyl siding; vinyl windows; a screened-in original porch with replacement posts and railings; a second, modern shed-roof porch on the gable end; and a modern

5.9.66 Farm at 269 Swart Hill Road, Amsterdam

This circa 1880 dairy farm is located on the north side of Swart Hill Road. The property includes a residence built in 2005, and the following circa 1880 timber-frame dairy farm structures: one gambrel-roof dairy barn with additions, a gambrel-roof milk house, and two-bay garage. An original gable-roof barn has been re-clad with modern metal siding.

5.9.67 Farm at 358 Swart Hill Road, Amsterdam

This is a circa 1880 farm property with two-story gable-front and wing residence, four frame barns, and a frame shed. Alterations to the house include vinyl siding and windows, and replacement roofing material. The barns, one gambrel-roof and the rest with gable roofs, are timber-frame and undistinguished in style and form.

5.9.68 Farm at 371 Swart Hill Road, Amsterdam

This property is a feed farm, primarily composed of modern feed storage and processing structures. The farm residence is a circa 1880, two-story frame Greek Revival style building with gable front and two-story wing, clad with vinyl siding. The pedimented gable end features a wide, unadorned cornice, square corner pilasters, replacement 6/6 windows, and a recessed entry with plain cornice, square pilasters, and paneled door with sidelights. The wing is modified with additions and an integral garage.

5.9.69 House at 413 Swart Hill Road, Amsterdam

This is a circa 1945, 1½-story frame Minimal Traditional house with side gable roof, rectangular plan, central brick chimney, gabled dormers, and synthetic siding. The symmetrical façade features a central door flanked by 8/8 sash windows on the first story, while each dormer contains a 6/6 sash window. The house is common in form and style. A gabled frame garage is connected to the house by a hyphen addition.

This is a circa 1800 Italianate style farmhouse with hip roof, rectangular plan, two rear additions, and central hip-roof front porch. The house is clad with weatherboard wood siding and has vinyl 1/1 sash windows. Other structures on the farm include a circa 1900 frame barn with gable roof and shed additions, a concrete silo, and a modern sheet metal barn.

This is a circa 1935 1½-story frame bungalow with front gable roof and rectangular plan. The house features a central brick chimney; an enclosed, full-width gabled front porch; and wide shed-roof dormers on each side elevation. Alterations include vinyl siding, shutters, and windows, and modifications to window styles.

5.9.72 House at 263 Thayer Road, Florida

This is a circa 1930, 2½-story frame vernacular residence with front gable roof and rectangular plan. The house is clad with synthetic siding, has vinyl replacement 1/1 sash windows, and features a full-width enclosed front porch and a central brick chimney.

5.9.73 Farm at 368 Thayer Road, Florida

This circa 1880 farm complex includes a 2½-story frame vernacular house with front gable roof and rectangular plan, and a collection of timber-frame barns and sheds of the same construction date as the house. The house features a symmetrical façade with full-width, hip-roof porch with turns posts, a slate shingle roof, and central brick chimney. The house is clad with synthetic siding, has replacement 1/1 sash windows, and has a circa 1930 garage addition. The barns and sheds are primarily gable-roofed with modifications and sheet metal cladding replacements, all undistinguished in style and common in form.

5.9.74 Farm at 546 Thayer Road, Florida

This farm property consists of a 1½-story frame vernacular residence, built circa 1940, a detached frame, two-bay garage, two frame barns, and two steel granaries. The barns are mostly obscured from view from the roadway by mature trees along the property line. The house has an enclosed front porch, two gabled dormers, vinyl siding, and 1/1 sash windows.

5.9.75 House at 612 Thayer Road, Florida

This is a circa 1890, two-story gable-front and wing frame vernacular residence with an exterior brick chimney, integral front porch with replacement wrought-iron railing and posts, aluminum siding, and 1/1 vinyl sash windows. The house is further altered by a gabled rear addition and a one-story addition on the southeast elevation.

5.9.76 House at 736 Thayer Road, Florida

This is a circa 1940, 1 ½-story, frame minimal traditional residence with side gable roof, rectangular plan, and exterior brick chimney. The gabled entry porch has been extended and enclosed and a two-bay garage is attached by a hyphen. The house is clad with vinyl siding and has vinyl 1/1 sash windows.

5.9.77 Kietzmann Dairy Farm at 819 Thayer Road, Florida

The Kietzmann Dairy Farm includes land on both sides of Thayer Road. On the northeast side of the road is a circa 1850 Greek Revival style house and a multi-bay frame equipment shed, while the southeast side includes two early to mid-twentieth century general purpose barns, four circa 1900 dairy barns, modern dairy barns and equipment sheds, and three silos. The 1½-story frame house features a side gable roof, symmetrical five-bay façade with central gabled entry porch supported by plain square posts, weatherboard siding, 6/6 vinyl sash windows, attic windows, one exterior brick chimney, and a long rear ell. A modern paneled, glazed front door with sidelights is slightly recessed into the façade. The gable-roof, timber-frame barns are undistinguished in style and form

5.9.78 Farm at 836 Touareuna Road, Glenville

This circa 1850 farm complex includes a one-story frame Greek Revival style house, general purpose barn, equipment shed, garage, and modern horse barn. The side-gable roof house is clad with unpainted weatherboard, has an interior masonry chimney, symmetrical five-bay façade featuring a central door flanked by synthetic 6/6 sash windows, and a small gabled addition on the north side. The recessed doorway, set in a wide frame with crown, features a single paneled door with sidelights and square pilasters. A set of exterior paneled and glazed doors enclose the recessed entry. The barns on the property are gabled timber-frame structures with standing seam metal roofs, wellmaintained but undistinguished in style and form.

5.9.79 Our Lady of Mount Carmel Cemetery, Truax Road, Amsterdam

Our Lady of Mount Carmel Cemetery, located on the west side of Truax Road, is a circa 1920 Roman Catholic cemetery owned by the Polish National Catholic Church. The cemetery is flat and grassy, with minimal landscape features. A small undistinguished brick maintenance building is centrally located within the cemetery, which is divided into three sections by paved roads.

5.9.80 Anostario Farm, 195 Waterstreet Road, Amsterdam

The Anostario Farm complex, built circa 1890, includes a 1 ½-story frame vernacular residence under a cross-gable roof, a two-bay frame garage, a gambrel-roof frame barn with 4-pane fixed windows and shutters on the gable end, and gable-roof frame barn connected to a shed-roof equipment shed. The house, which features a full-width front porch with replacement square posts, is altered by aluminum siding, vinyl windows, and a modern gabled rear addition, clad with brick. The barns are undistinguished in style and form.

5.9.81 Saint John's Cemetery, Widow Susan Road, Amsterdam

Saint John's Cemetery is a circa 1940 Roman Catholic cemetery associated with the Church of St. Stanislaus. Surrounded by wooded area, the cemetery is flat and grassy, divided into two main sections by paved roads, with graves also located in areas outside of the sections, and with a few mature trees. At the center of the cemetery is a small gable-roof frame chapel, clad with yellow bricks. The simple vernacular chapel features boarded-up pointed arched window openings, a gabled entry awning over modern paneled double doors, and a square cupola with vents, clad with aluminum siding, supporting a cross.

5.9.82 Saint Casimir Cemetery, Widow Susan Road, Amsterdam

Saint Casimir Cemetery is a Lithuanian Catholic cemetery, dating circa 1920. The cemetery is flat and grassy, surrounded by wooded area, and with few mature deciduous trees along the paved roadways that divide it into sections. Near the center of the cemetery is Saint Anne chapel, a masonry structure built in 1971 in a modern style, featuring bas reliefs and mosaics on the side elevations and a dominant façade with metal sculptures and outdoor pulpit. The cemetery entrance is marked by simple square masonry gates with pyramidal caps.

6.0 Project Effects Analysis

Historic properties are present within the APE. For the 16 NRHP listed, previously determined NRHP eligible, and recommended NRHP eligible historic properties, TRC applied the Secretary of the Interior's Standards for the Treatment of Historic Properties in combination with the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation's Criteria of Adverse Effect (36 CFR § 800.5). Adverse effects occur when an undertaking may alter, directly or indirectly, any of the characteristics of a historic property that would qualify it for inclusion in the NRHP in a manner that would compromise the integrity of the property's location, design, setting, materials, workmanship, feeling, or association. Consideration is given to all qualifying characteristics of a historic property, including those that may have been identified subsequent to the original evaluation of the property's eligibility for the NRHP.

Physical destruction, alterations inconsistent with the Secretary of the Interior's Standards, removal from original location, change in character of use or setting, introduction of visual, atmospheric, or audible elements that diminish integrity of significance, neglect and transfer by sale or lease out of federal (or state, if applicable) ownership can result in an adverse effect finding. Adverse effects may also include reasonably foreseeable effects caused by the undertaking that may occur later in time, be further removed in distance, or be cumulative. A finding of adverse effect on historic properties may be addressed and resolved through agreed-upon measures to avoid, minimize, or mitigate the adverse effect. The potential for such adverse effects related to this undertaking is discussed in the following paragraph.

Construction of Project infrastructure will not require demolition or physical alteration of any of the surveyed historic properties within the LOD. Therefore, no direct physical effects on the historic properties are anticipated as a result of the Project. However, the construction of Project infrastructure has the potential to result in indirect visual effects on the surveyed historic properties in the APE. Not all effects are adverse. The undertaking's potential to affect any historic property depends upon that historic property's character-defining features that contribute to its significance and NRHP eligibility. If a historic property's setting is less important to its significance than its architectural or historic qualities, then changes to setting may not adversely diminish the qualities or character-defining elements that support a historic property's NRHP eligibility. Therefore, the undertaking would have no adverse effect on a historic property.

According to viewshed bare-earth topography modelling for the Project, potential visual impacts to historic properties are possible. However, such factors as distance, perspective, and the screening effects of intervening vegetation and modern buildings, documented by photography during the pedestrian survey, will minimize visibility of the undertaking to a negligible level from all historic properties in the APE. While the project may be visible from these historic properties or may be visible in the setting of these historic properties, the presence of the Project components, including the solar arrays, buried (and possibly overhead) electric collection lines, a collection substation, and electrical interconnection facilities, will not diminish their identified architectural and historical significance and qualifying characteristics. Table 2 lists historic properties within the APE and provides a recommendation of effect based on Criteria of Adverse Effect analysis. Tables 3-17 contain a detailed assessment of effects for each historic property.

A historic property summary and a full analysis for each of the 16 historic properties identified within the APE, based on the Criteria of Adverse Effect, appears in the following sections.

6.1 Assessment of Effects on Historic Properties

TRC recommends that the Project will have no effect on the 16 NRHP listed, previously determined NRHP eligible, and recommended NRHP eligible historic properties within the APE.

7.0 Summary and Recommendations

TRC identified a total of 100 architectural properties aged 50 years or older in the APE. Of the 100 surveyed historic properties, 16 are listed or recommended eligible for NRHP listing. TRC identified two (2) potential, NRHP-eligible historic districts in the course of the survey. Based on location of the historic properties, project visibility is reduced and minimized by intervening objects and structures, as well as distance and vegetation. TRC's analysis of the undertaking in relation to historic properties therefore concludes that construction activities will have no effect to NRHP-qualifying characteristics of any historic property in the APE.

TRC's preliminary assessment of effects concludes that the proposed Project will not alter, directly or indirectly, any of the characteristics, significance, and/or integrity of the 16 identified historic properties that qualify them for inclusion in the NRHP. TRC recommends that the likelihood of incremental effects caused by the Project to historic properties in the APE from past, present, or reasonably foreseeable future actions is low. Thus, the project will have no reasonably foreseeable cumulative effect to historic properties. Accordingly, TRC offers preliminary recommendations of no effect to historic properties in the APE.

TRC concludes the Project will have no effect on historic properties listed in or eligible for listing in the NRHP. As currently designed, no avoidance, minimization, or mitigation measures are required. Therefore, OPRPH consultation regarding adverse effect mitigation treatments are not warranted.
